PART III
INDEX TO AUTHORS

INTRODUCTION

This section is straightforward and needs little introduction. It consists of an index to all those publications which contain either original descriptions or selection of types for species-group names in the Papilionidae & Pieridae. For original descriptions the data are arranged into four columns, information on the type, status code, name and original genus and page citation. For type designations the first column is always blank and the status code is replaced by 'T'. The genus-group names used are those used in the original descriptions, not those in which the name is presently placed.

PART IV
BIBLIOGRAPHY

INTRODUCTION

This section is straightforward and needs little introduction. Abbreviations used in journal titles have been taken from the World List of Scientific Periodicals [b4283]. Of the 4330 items in the bibliography, approximately 4080 deal directly with the Papilionidae & Pieridae. I have tried to provide the full names of the authors, and to give some information about where and when they were born and died, and what happened to their collections. This information has been taken from various sources, but the works of Gilbert, 1978 (A Compendium of the Biographical Literature on Deceased Entomologists) [b1706], Carpenter, 1945 & 1953 (Bibliography of Biographies of Entomologists) [b0739, b0740], Horn & Schenkling, 1928 (Index Litteraturae Entomologicae, Serie I) [b2081] and Derksen and Scheiding-Göllner, 1965 (Index Litteraturae Entomologicae, Serie II) [b0987] have been most helpful. In general papers with multiple authors are only listed under the senior author, but in cases where junior authors have published material which has nomenclatural implications (i.e. lectotype selections), the paper is given a second entry.

It appears that individual copies of parts were distributed as the author's painting of the plates proceeded. Thus no precise date of issue for parts can be determined. Several of the earlier pages and plates were also reissued at later dates in a revised or corrected capacity. Plates VII and 10 in vol. I were both published uncoloured. However, one, or possibly two copies, of plate VII were specially coloured for their owners by the author after they had received them. As far as can be ascertained, only 33 copies of this work were ever completed. (Moulds, 1977). {1889-1914}*

PART V
INDEX TO JOURNALS AND SERIALS

INTRODUCTION

This section is straightforward and needs little introduction. Abbreviations used in journal titles have been taken from the World List of Scientific Periodicals [b2115]. Papers with multiple authors are listed under the senior author only, and it has been found necessary to occasionally truncate the authors name to keep the listings orderly. When this has been done it is indicated by using a '*' at the end of the name. For convience a few publications which were issued in parts with various authors have been treated as if they were journals (i.e. Annot. Lep., In Romanoff, Mém. Lép. and In Seitz, Grossschmett. Erde.).

APPENDIX I
SYNONYMIC LIST OF FAMILY-GROUP NAMES

INTRODUCTION

This section is straightforward and needs little introduction. The family-group names are printed 'bold' if they are objectively valid, printed 'light' if they are objectively invalid, and in 'italics' if they are unavailable. Names proceeded by a '+' are considered synonyms (subjectively invalid) and are not used in the classification. The standard endings for Family-Group names are taken to be -oidea (superfamily), -idae (family), -inae (subfamily), -ini (tribe) and -iti (subtribe).

APPENDIX II
SYNONYMIC LIST OF GENUS-GROUP NAMES

INTRODUCTION

This section is straightforward and needs little introduction. The genus-group names are printed 'bold' if they are objectively valid, printed 'light' if they are objectively invalid, and in 'italics' if they are unavailable. Each group is preceeded with a key to the higher classification which can easily be read with the help of Appendix I. For example, Archon is in the group headed Pap:Pap:Par:Parnassiini, which can be read as Superfamily PAPILIONOIDEA, Family PAPILIONIDAE, Subfamily PARNASSINAE and Tribe PARNASSIINI.

Colias scudderii or scudderi?

Charles A. Bridges
502 W. Main, #120, Urbana, Illinois 61802

Introduction

In a recent paper [b1395 :6], Dr. Clifford Ferris used the spelling scudderi for a name that was originally published as Colias scudderii Reakirt, 1865 [b3114 :217]. Dr. Ferris stated "the correct spelling is scudderi since this name is a noun in the genitive case formed from a modern personal name [I.C.Z.N. Code, Arts. 31, 32(d)]". This is wrong. Dr. Ferris has misinterpretted the Code, and the correct spelling is the original spelling, scudderii. In a later paper [b1395a], following similar reasoning, Dr. Ferris modified the spelling of other names, including harfordi for Colias harfordii Henry Edwards, 1877 [b1139 :9]; edwardsi for Colias edwardsii William Edwards, 1870 [b1152 :11] and krauthi for krauthii Klots, 1935 [b2288 :1]. In this second paper Dr. Ferris states "In keeping with the I.C.Z.N. Code [Arts. 31a(ii), 32c(i)] regarding the endings -i, -ii the spelling has been modified from the original since the use of -ii for modern personal names contravenes Arts. 27-31". Again, Dr. Ferris is wrong, and the correct spellings are the original spellings.

What the Code really States

According to the Code [Article 31(a)], "a species-group name formed from a personal name may be either a noun in the genitive case, a noun in apposition, or an adjective or participle". Here we are concerned only with the first of these methods, that is, a noun in the genitive case. The question is, how is a noun in the genitive case formed from the personal name Scudder? As shown below, the Code gives two methods, and application of these two methods leads to the alternate spellings scudderii and scudderi.

The first method [Article 31(a)(i) and following Example] is to first latinize the name (Cuvier is latinized to Cuvierius), then to drop the nominative singular ending -us and to add the genitive singular ending -i. Thus Cuvier gives cuvierii, Scudder gives scudderii, Harford gives harfordii, Krauth gives krauthii and Edwards gives edwardsii.

The second method [Article 31(a)(ii) and following Example] is to add the genitive singular ending -i directly to the stem of the name. Thus Cuvier gives cuvieri, Scudder gives scudderi, Harford gives harfordi, Krauth gives krauthi and Edwards gives edwardsi.

Thus it can be seen that, according to the Code, either spelling can be considered correct, so that the correct spelling of a name in any particular case is the one used in the original description. Now it is true that the Code recommends [Appendix D(III)] that the second method be used. But it must be remembered that this is only a Recommendation, not a Rule, and that it applies to new names, not to previously published names.

Unjustified Emendations or Incorrect Subsequent Spellings

Next comes the question of how to treat Dr. Ferris' alternate spellings, either as Unjustified Emendations, and thus available names, or as Incorrect Subsequent Spellings, and thus unavailable names. Luckily this matter is dealt with specifically by the Code in Article 34(d), which states "The use of the termination -i in a subsequent spelling of a species-group name that is a genitive based upon a personal name in which the correct original spelling terminates with -ii, or vice versa, constitutes an incorrect subsequent spelling, even if the change in spelling is deliberate .." Therefore Dr. Ferris' errors are to be treated simply as Incorrect Subsequent Spelling, and thus as unavailable names. Notice also that the very fact that this Article exists in the Code makes it unambiguously clear that the original spellings are not to be altered in this case.

What if the Code were Ambiguous

I wrote to Dr. Ferris, putting forth the above arguements. In his response [b1395b] he rejects my point of view, concluding, if I read him correctly, that the Code is ambiguous on this point. While I certainly don't agree with this, I feel that even if it were true, that would not be a valid justification for changing the spelling of a name. As is clearly stated in the Preamble to the Code, "The object of the Code is to promote stability and universality .." and further, "All its provisions and recommendations are subservient to these ends .." If Dr. Ferris really does feel that the Code is ambiguous, stability would best be served not by changing the spelling of a name, but rather by using the original spelling and making an application to the Commission for a ruling.
